President's Message:

Presidents message-

It's still hot out there so stay well hydrated when hunting. Water hunting is a great way to keep cooler while hunting and may produce some nice treasures! Watch the weather and get off the beach during lightning storms. Be safe!

Editor's

worth:

Well folks, the summer heat is still here in full force, BUT... with all the rain we've had, the dirt is nice and soft, so, if you can find a nice shady park or property to hunt, those finds are coming out of the ground very easily!

And, as Howard said, it's always great to cool down in the water while beach detecting. The local beaches have slowed a little but there are still oodles of depositors from around the country (and from around the world) visiting our beautiful beaches, so wear a hat, use some sun block and have plenty of water to drink with you and go find some treasure! Early morning or evening hours will keep you out of that brutal mid-day baking!
